

facilitating the informality formal infrastructure for an informal market ariadne gutierrez flores | cedim celso rojas | texas a&m university barcelona architecture center spring 2014

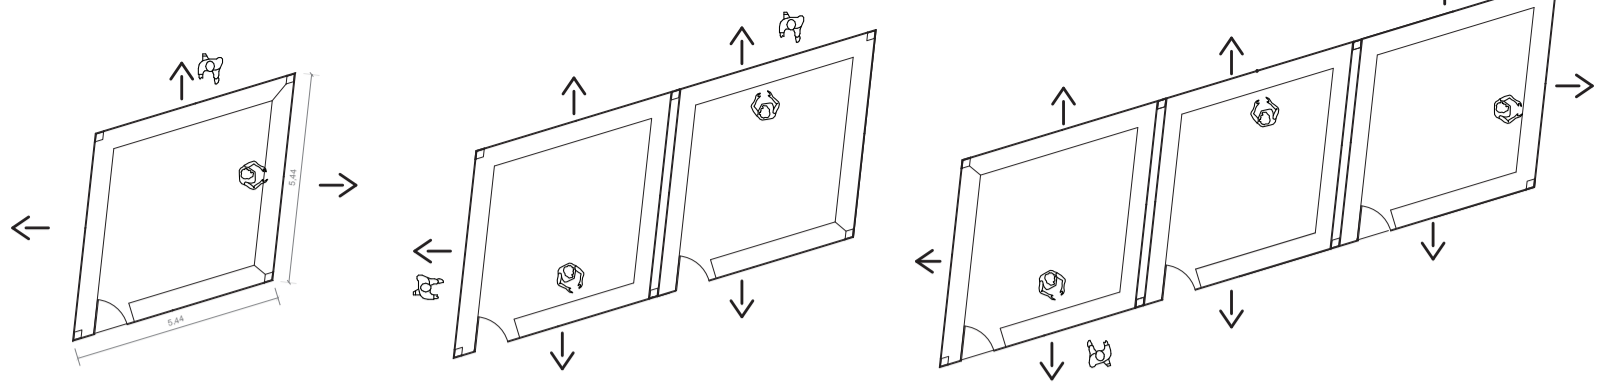

This intervention seeks to facilitate the natural and preexisting conditions of potential market activity on the existing site of Placa del Mar. Using these preexisting conditions and habits, we designed an infrastructure to support these activities based on certain research and design goals. The concept is to give the community of Barceloneta, and the rest of Barcelona, a market that is not an icon nor building, rather an infrastructure for all types of market activity.

evolution of form combination of permanent markets section of market stalls section a - a section b - b

floor plan

